"Mike" is a persistent cuss. Mr. Miles reports that last season, the dog treed one 'coon after trailing him for eight miles. On another occasion, "Mike" treed his quarry after a six-mile chase during which he crossed Tymochtee creek at flood stage eleven times! Each time he crossed the creek, Miles reported, the current would carry him downstream, but he had no trouble picking up the trail when he got to the other side.

The dog will run no other trail but 'coon. Miles reports that once he saw "Mike" following a trail down one wagon track and he completely ignored a 'possum which passed him coming up the other wagon track. "Mike" is a "lone hound;" he won't hunt with another dog and he'll perform for nobody but his master.

"Hank" Miles' boon friend and hunting companion, L. D. (Nellie) Nelson of Kenton, loves "Mike" almost as much as his owner. The two men, who have taken all of their 'coon within a five-mile radius of Miles' farm in Marion county near the Sally Ann Tourist Camp, have a system when they go hunting. Nelson carries the rifle. Miles carries the shells; they carry a lantern between them, and each carries a flashlight.

the rural property was inspected this week when appraisers started checking tracts in Claridon township in the southeast quadrant.

No commercials or work in the Marion business district has been undertaken as yet, it was indicated. The business district and corporation appraisal will be made later in the spring.

As the work progresses in the various subdivisions in the city and county, the firm will bring in the experienced appraisal men who will place the valuations on property. Before the final appraisal is made they will have at their disposal the figures and measurements taken by the crews working at the present time.

Approximately 10 local persons are assisting with taking measurements. In the rural areas, to assist with farm appraisals, the firm has asked County Auditor Harry V. Mounts to secure a few individuals familiar with the county to accompany its appraisers when farms are being valued. Selection of these assistants to work in the various rural areas is virtually complete and will be announced shortly, Mr. Mounts said.

Dice Game Killer To Die in Chair Tonight

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 12 — Death in Ohio penitentiary's electric chair tonight confronted Floyd Dace, 22, of Cleveland, for a dice-game slaying in August, 1946.

Confined in the mid-town prison's death row for nearly a year, Dace is scheduled to die shortly after sundown.

He is the third member of a trio of Clevelanders convicted of killing Henry Lee Webb during an argument resulting from a dice game in Cleveland.

The others, James Griffin, 28, and Robert Britton, 22, were electrocuted in the penitentiary last Nov. 28.

Dace ordered the customary fried chicken dinner for his last meal.

MERCURY SLIPS TO ONE ABOVE ZERO IN CITY

Forecast Promises "Not So Cold Tonight and Warmer Weather Saturday."

A low thermometer reading of one degree above zero was recorded in Marion last night as the city continued to shovel away the nearly six inches of snow which fell yesterday in the second heaviest snowfall of the season. However, the sudden and extreme cold wave which settled down over the central and southwestern sections of the country yesterday appeared to be on the way out today with the weatherman issuing a forecast for this area of mostly clear and not quite so cold tonight, with Saturday partly cloudy and warmer.

With the extreme cold came a request from the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., which serves Marion and area, to cut down on the use of fuel gas. Charles E. Sechrist, manager of the Marion office of the company, announced that only large industries have been affected here so far. They have been asked to curtail as much as possible.

Temperature Report

The temperature in Marion at 8 a. m. today was 7 degrees above zero with a high of 23 reported for the past 24 hours. The high and low temperatures recorded for this date a year ago were high 53, and low 29.

At Cleveland, a previous low mark of nine degrees for March 12, 1900, was shattered, according to an Associated Press dispatch. Forecasters there reported the thermometer dipped to 3 above in the early morning hours, and threatened to reach the zero level as the city shoveled away a one-day snowfall of seven inches.

One death and two injuries resulted from the Cleveland blizzard. George R. Young, 85-year-old retired carpenter, died from overexertion while shoveling snow at his East Side home. Efforts of a police ambulance squad to resuscitate him with oxygen were unsuccessful.

East Ohio Cuts Off Gas

Six hundred northern Ohio industrial plants faced another day without production as the East Ohio Gas Co. continued its 100 per cent curtailment of supplies to factories.

Schools in numerous parts of northern Ohio were closed by the transportation snarl and snow piled up to a depth of 12 inches in some counties.

Less snow fell in southern Ohio, but sleet and rain at Cincinnati caused icy roads that resulted in 15 auto accidents.

Relief on Way From Bitter Cold

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 12—Relief appeared on the way today from the bitter cold which has overspread wide sections of the country from the Rockies to the North Atlantic coast and into the Texas Rio Grande valley.

But below seasonal temperatures and snow storms which swept over the area at the tag end of a bitter winter season caused widespread hardship and threatened to cause heavy damage to crops.

Huge drifts of snow blocked highways in many sections of the midwest and southwest. Thousands of cars and trucks were stalled in Ohio, Oklahoma and other parts of the snow belt. Schools in some areas were closed.

The falling temperatures caused gas shortages in some states. Industrial and business activities were curtailed in Kansas, Texas, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Kentucky.

Lima Ordnance Depot Reduces Working Day

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., March 12—The Lima ordnance depot, which stores and distributes tanks and other vehicles for the armed forces, today reduced its working schedule from 12 hours a day to 10.

Lt. Col. R. B. Fontaine, commanding officer, said the 12-hour schedule was set up March 1 due to demands for equipment from the National Guard, preparing for maneuvers; from the Army and for international commitments.

The depot hopes soon, he said, to return to an 8-hour day.

STATE'S TAX INCOME HIGH

Collections Over $39,000,000 Above 1947 Estimate, Commissioner Says.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, March 12—Ohio got 17 per cent more from general revenue tax sources last year than it had counted on. State Tax Commissioner C. Emory Glander said today that "actual collections of $268,477,432 exceeded the estimated amount of $229,370,473 by $39,106,959."

Glander added, however, "it will be touch and go to keep the general fund in the black during 1948." "Undoubtedly," he said, "the excess collections over estimates in 1947 was largely the result of a fairly rapid rise in the price level which led to a national income last year of $197,000,000,000.

"Should prices decline," he pointed out, "it is probable that revenues will drop. This is particularly true of the retail sales tax. Appropriations for 1948 were made last year, and it is unlikely that these commitments will be revised downward. The stricter enforcement of the tax laws now being undertaken by the department of taxation will undoubtedly go a long way toward preventing a deficit if an adverce change in economic conditions takes place this year."

"On the brighter side," Glander said, "it may be well to point out that current collections thus far in 1948 exceed those for the same period last year. Should this situation continue until late in the year there will be no cause for worry." The taxation commissioner said the general fund's biggest revenue producer, the 3 per cent sales tax, exceeded the estimate by more than one third. "This took place," he said, "regardless of the fact that the appropriation to the local government fund actually made by the general assembly was $3,250,000 in excess of the estimated amount of $24,000,000 for the year."

Truman Pits U.S. Might Against Communism

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 12—President Truman today pitted this country's full political power and prestige against the spread of Communism anywhere—including China.

At the same time a five-point administration plan began to emerge: a plan for coming to grips with what Secretary of State Marshall considers a "great crisis" in the world.

Within a few hours of each other, both the President and his secretary of state spoke out with extraordinary frankness on the state of affairs resulting from the bitter conflict between Russia and the western powers.

For the first time publicly, the Chief Executive admitted that his faith in the attainment of a real world peace has been somewhat shaken. He said so at a White House news conference late yesterday.

Marshall, appearing last night before a meeting of the Federal Council of Churches, declared flatly that "the world is in the midst of a great crisis, inflamed by propaganda, misunderstanding, anger and fear."

The President was in the audience and heard Marshall couple with his pronouncement of crisis and appeal for moderation, calm thinking and cool judgment on the part of the American people.

Mr. Truman himself had said earlier that Americans should be careful not to let their passions get the better of them before they know all the facts.

Out of the President's news conference comments and Marshall's brief speech came the pattern of administration policy for meeting the crisis.

Expect Crisis in Italy

Officials expect that crisis to reach a climax first and most directly in the Italian political campaigns leading up to elections there April 18. Here are the points which the President, the secretary—or both in some cases —stressed:

▶The European recovery program — which is now near final action in the senate but awaits house debate—should be carried out promptly.

▶The United States encourages the formation of what Marshall called a political association in western Europe as the first step to restoring stability.

▶The spread of Communist governments anywhere in the world, including China, is opposed by the American government. And Mr. Truman indicated this country will do everything in its power to block Communism.

▶The United States will continue to work for world peace wherever possible, but the problem is now more difficult than at any time since the end of the war.

▶Meanwhile, the American people must keep their fears and their "passions" under control in spite of what Marshall called the "distractions" of election year campaigns here at home.

"At no time," Marshall told his audience of churchmen, "has it been so important for cool judgment, for an appeal to one's self for a proper sense of justice, for a realization of conditions, material, political and spiritual, in other parts of the world."

The President's news conference discussion of American foreign policy came on the eve of the first anniversary of the Truman doctrine which he proclaimed a year ago today. At that time he asked congress for $400,000,000 to help Greece fight its internal Communist rebellion and to strengthen Turkey against the political and territorial demands of Russia.

Asked About Doctrine

The President was asked yesterday whether he thinks the Truman Doctrine now needs expansion into other areas of the world.

He replied that he does not think so.

The so-called Truman Doctrine, he went on, was in fact preliminary to the European recovery program. And if that program is carried out promptly it will accomplish the aims of the doctrine —that is, to help free nations everywhere to withstand the external and internal assaults of Communism.

This question led to another. Does Mr. Truman still feel as much confidence as he had expressed last December in the eventual achievement of world peace?

Solemnly the President conceded for the first time that his faith has been somewhat shaken.

But he added that he still believes real peace can be attained. And it must be obtained because the world cannot afford the destruction of another great war, he declared.

WEEPING CZECHS FILE PAST MASARYK'S BIER

By The Associated Press

PRAGUE, March 12—A line of weeping mourners nearly two miles long filed through Czernin palace today to place flowers on the bier of Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk.

Masaryk's body lay in state from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m., but the throng was so vast the doors of the palace opened an hour early to permit school children to pass through.

Meanwhile, the Communists were strengthening their control of Czechoslovakia and a program of reorganization and legislation in a dominated parliament.

They also claimed new evidence of opposition plotting against the government in a report of the confession and suicide of a non-Communist political leader, Josef Herot.

That suicide was the second such to be reported officially this week.

FBI Agent Cites Obligation Of Citizenship in Address Here

By SCOTT McMURRAY

D. K. Brown, special agent in charge of the Cleveland office of the FBI, was main speaker at the eighth annual banquet of Marion Lodge No. 24, Fraternal Order of Police, held last night in the ballroom of Hotel Harding with 175 members of the order, associate members, and honored guests in attendance.

Mr. Brown's subject was "The Obligation of Citizenship."

"With citizenship comes obligations, and observance of laws and regulations is a basic factor in the American way of life," he said.

"We are now living in a period of international crises and citizens of other lands do not enjoy the benefits of law and order we have. They do not enjoy the right of habeaus corpus, the right of trial by jury, the right to confront their accusers. Our country has been founded on a basis of laws.

"The youth of our land are being recruited by the forces of crime and [illegible] ment for crimes are easy prey for subversive groups.

Burden on Officers

"In the majority of communities the public is just beginning to realize the burden placed on our law enforcement officers by the influx of subversive groups and criminals. Meager salaries in many parts of our nation make it hard for law enforcement agencies to recruit, train, and keep on active duty good young officers.

"If the battle gainst crime is left solely to law enforcement officers they will lose the battle. Officers of the law have been able to decrease crime yearly but they cannot roll back the forces of crime alone. They need the support of schools, churches and social agencies.

"Subversive groups largely appeal to youth of high school and college age and those are the group upon which social clubs and school agencies can do the most good in keeping them away from crime.

Three Army Prisoners Bolt

FBI in Hunt for Armed Ohio Trio Who Overpowered Guards in Kentucky.

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, March 12—The Federal Bureau of Investigation today joined Army and police officials of three states in the search for three Army prisoners who overpowered guards near Warsaw, Ky., and fled with .45 automatics.

The trio, described as "very dangerous," was among 11 prisoners being transported from Ft. Hayes here to Ft. Knox, Ky., in an ambulance that had been reconverted into a patrol wagon.

Ft. Hayes officials identified the three as Pvt. Howard S. Kent, 24, of East Liverpool, O.; Pfc. William Shildmyer, 26, of Toledo, O.; and Pvt. John R. Gfroerer of Hamilton, O.

The prisoners overpowered their guards soon after the reconverted ambulance crossed the Ohio river into Kentucky last night. They took guns, ammunition and money from the three guards and then drove the vehicle for more than an hour while trying to persuade the other prisoners to join them.

The group drove over the state line into Indiana and abandoned the vehicle after the other prisoners refused to accompany them in their escape.

Police in Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky were warned that the three men were armed and supplied with extra ammunition.

PRICE OF HOGS SKIDS TODAY

Quotations Drop as Farmers Rush To Beat Threat of Packers' Strike.

By The United Press

CHICAGO, March 12 — Hog prices skidded downward today as farmers rushed their animals to market before the CIO United Packinghouse Workers strike scheduled to start Tuesday.

Experts in the meat packing industry said, however, that the drop in prices would have little effect on the price of pork chops in meat markets.

Not enough hogs are expected to reach the market by the end of this week to affect meat prices in event of a shortage which would develop if the packinghouse workers actually strike for a considerable length of time.

Administration spokesmen in Washington have intimated that President Truman may take action under the Taft-Hartley law to prevent the work stoppage.

The packinghouse workers issued their strike call to enforce demands for a 20-cent an hour wage increase. The strike would close about 100 large packing plants.

Prices dropped as much at $2 per hundredweight at some stockyards yesterday. The usual decrease, however, was 50 cents to $1.50.

Wheat, corn and oats on the Chicago board of trade closed slightly below the previous day.

No Hog Market Offered by Yards Here

The Marion Livestock Producers Co-op Association has offered no market for hogs since Wednesday, Manager Robert Bradley reported today in commenting on the effect on the market here of the looming strike of packinghouse workers.

"With the big packing houses cutting down orders, we have been taking only a few consignments since the first of the week. Farmers here don't seem to be too excited about the market prospects and haven't as yet been pressing up to take hogs," he said.

Top hogs here have held to around $23 fluctuating a fraction above that figure for the past several weeks, Bradley reported, adding that undoubtedly the price will go down if the strike comes off.

Farmers will lose out regardless of price as hogs approaching the premium 180-220 weight will have gotten too heavy by the time the market comes back, he pointed out. Packers then are able to get them for less with the loss taken by the farmer.

ANTI-RED BLOC IS FORMED IN EUROPE

By The Associated Press

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM, March 12—Britain, France and the Benelux nations adopted today a 50-year treaty for a political, economic and military union of western Europe intended to check the march of Communism.

Conference officials said the accord and allied documents will be signed here next Wednesday by the foreign ministers of Belgium, Britain, France, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

The text of the agreement will not be released until the signature ceremony, to give the five governments of the negotiators opportunity to examine it closely, the officials said.

GIVEN 10 TO 1 APPROVAL OF COMMITTEE

Republicans Slash House Figure in Bid for Democratic Support.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 12 — Senate Republican leaders today tabbed their $4,700,000,000 tax cut bill for action next week.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) announced that goal was set at a meeting of the Republican policy committee. Debate may not begin until the middle of the week but the aim is to get final action by the week's end.

The senate finance committee voted 10 to 1 last night for a tax slash of that size.

In doing so, it whittled $1,800,000,000 from the $6,500,000,000 tax bill passed overwhelmingly by the house Feb. 2.

The purpose of the senate strategy is to try to win enough Democratic votes to pass a bill over the presidential veto the Republicans expect. That would take a two-thirds majority in both the senate and house.

Except for one major change which trimmed the amount of the cut, the senate measure is practically the same as the house bill.

Range of Proposed Cuts

The senate bill provides for percentage tax cuts ranging from 12.6 per cent for those with net incomes of up to $2,000; 7.4 per cent on incomes of from $2,000 to $136,710; and 5 per cent on incomes over $136,710.

The range of house bill reductions is 30 per cent on incomes up to $1,000; 30 to 20 per cent between $1,000 and $1,395; 20 per cent between $1,395 and $4,000; and—over $4,000—20 per cent on the first $4,000 and 10 per cent on the rest.

In all cases these cuts are applied to income after deductions and exemptions.

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the senate finance committee said 70.5 per cent of the tax relief provided by the senate bill would go to persons making $5,000 or less after deduction but before personal exemptions.

The house bill would give 71.81 per cent of the $6,500,000,000 cut to those earnings less than $4,000.

Provisions of Both Bills

Under both the senate and house bills:

1. The cut would be effective as of last Jan. 1.

2. The personal exemption for each taxpayer and each dependent would be increased—from $500 to $600.

3. Husbands and wives in all states could split their income for tax purposes. This now can be done only in the 12 so-called community property states. This income splitting plan would benefit to any extent only those who make more than $5,000.

4. Increase the maximum standard deduction for contributions, medical and certain other expenses to $1,000. It is $500 now. On income of less than $10,000 the top deduction would continue to be 10 per cent.

5. Raise the exemption for blind persons to $600, from $500.

6. Allow persons 65 or older an extra $600 exemption.

7. Apply the income splitting principle to estate and gift taxes.

3 Democrats Vote Yes

On the final 10 to 1 vote, three Democrats joined the seven finance committee Republicans in balloting for a $4,700,000,000 cut.

The Democrats: Senators George (Ga), ranking minority member; Byrd (Va) and Edwin C. Johnson (Colo).

On the Republican side, in addition to Millikin were Senators Taft (Ohio), chairman of the senate Republican policy committee; Butler (Neb), Brewster (Me), Bushfield (SD), Hawkes (NJ), and Martin (Pa).

Senator Connally (D-Tex) cast the only ballot against the committee bill. Senators Barkley (D-Ky) and Lucas (D-Ill) were not present for the final vote.

COURT TURNS DOWN DRY PARTY APPEAL

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 12—The Prohibition party yesterday lost another step in its fight to get presidential and vice presidential candidates on Ohio's November ballot without the formality of a national convention.

The second district court of appeals ruled only national party convention nominees may be placed on the ballot. The opinion, written by Judge Fred J. Miller of Columbus, called the law "neither unreasonable nor arbitrary." The decision turned down an appeal by Frank M. McCartney of Columbus, the party's candidate for U.S. senate from Ohio.

McCartney sought a court order requiring the secretary of state to provide nominating petitions for candidates for president and vice president. The senate hopeful also asked an order requiring Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel to provide space on the presidential ballot for the Prohibition party on the basis of nominating petitions.

Judge Miller wrote that the general code prescribes the form of the ballot and provides only for presidential candidates nominated at national conventions of political parties to which delegates and alternates were to be elected at the next preceding primary election.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

FLOWERS have more drawing power than muscle-bound wrestlers and six-day bike riders in the asphalt acres of Manhattan.

The subway farmers and cliff dwelling windowbox waterers are proving that this week at the Kentucky Derby of the garden world—the International Flower Show. Each year this big league floral extravaganza attracts about 150,000 spectators. Everybody comes but Ferdinand the Bull.

They even run special trains from New England and charter buses in Raleigh, N. C., to bring in the dogwood and rhododendron fans. And—yes, indeed! — people try to pick the flowers right out of the displays, and they've got 60 husky guards on duty just to prevent them.

Hal Boyle

This year more than 1,000 contestants are striving for prizes in 255 main events. There are more minor feuds and vendettas in the four-acre display than you'd find at a tri-family reunion of the Hatfields, McCoys and the Borgias.

But in a real emergency the people who bring the outdoors indoors really help each other. When Don Roehrs, 33-year-old Rutherford, N. J., landscape contractor, at the last moment needed some soil and a few flowers to complete his rock-walled Normandy garden display, other exhibitors generously pitched in.

ROEHRS' EXHIBIT then won the grand prize as the best garden of the show. Its construction was superintended by Lowell Kennedy, 32, a thrice-wounded war veteran. He saw a lot of Normandy walls while doing some landscape work overseas with a machine gun.

The rabid enthusiasm of some of the elderly spectators is a source of worry to show officials, who keep a nurse handy to revive those overcome by zinnia-excitement.

A 75-year-old grandmother sneaked on a freight elevator in order to crash the show before it opened. An old man suffered his sixth heart attack the day the show opened, but as he was carried off promised: "I'll be back!" to him and many other people who came here flowers are the most important things in life.

One elderly lady fainted and was placed in a wheel chair. She came to as they were rolling her to an elevator and murmured graciously:

"This reminds me of Atlantic City."

COMMERCIAL BOOTHS had for sale hundreds of items ranging from 10-cent glass flower earrings to $3,500 floral refrigerators, from $1.50 Indian elephant bells to $640 tractors.

Some florists were annoyed at two men from Hackensack, N. J., who were selling $5 spray kits which preserve flowers indefinitely, thus enabling a lady to keep her bridal bouquet and other floral pieces permanently.

"They don't have any smell though," the florists told each other uneasily. Who wants a flower that lasts forever?

Of the millions of flowers on display the bloom that won most interest from the women was an orchid from the wedding cake of Princess Elizabeth. It had been preserved by borax crystals.

Guarding the orchid display was Irving Wiener, an ex-pug.

"There's $35,000 in orchids here," he said. "I been guarding flowers here five years. Never lost a single orchid. But these women! If I turned my back for half an hour—they wouldn't be a flower left in the place."

Perennial plants are about three-eighths water.

PENSION SOCIETY HEARS INDIANAPOLIS MINISTER

"Take Heed" was the subject of a talk by Rev. C. E. Foley of Indianapolis, Ind., a guest speaker at a meeting of the Old Age Pension Society of Marion County last Friday afternoon in the Eagles' hall. Patriotic singing and exercises and devotions opened the meeting. Prayer was by Rev. Joel Harmon.

Music included songs, "Blessed Assurance," and "There Is Glory in My Soul" by the choir, "On the Jerico Road," by William Sergent, Mrs. Rose Seiter and Christian Ruth, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Eva Parish, and "Jesus Lover of My Soul," by John Augenstein.

Rev. Foley told his listeners we are living in a dangerous time and cautioned them to take heed of the teachings of Christ in order to gain eternal happiness.

A letter from Mrs. M. J. Berry of Mansfield, stated that Mr. Berry, who is president of the Old Age Pension Society of Ohio, is home and improving following five weeks spent in a hospital in that city.

AWAITS RULING ON STATUS OF PETITION

Special to The Star

GALION, March 12—City auditor Lloyd Frye was awaiting a ruling by City Solicitor George H Davies, today, before taking action on the referendum petition filed with Frye last week by John P. Drouth. Nearly 100 signers of the petition have asked to have their names withdrawn following a drive by city officials against the referendum petition, a spokesman of the administration said.

The petition contained 428 signers, and asked the board of elections for a vote at the next general election on City ordinance No. 2762 passed Feb. 3, setting the salary of the combined position of Service and Safety director at $600 per month. Approximately 390 signers were all that Drouth needed on the petition. This represented about 10 per cent of the vote at the last election. In an effort to retain the newly appointed service and safety director, John F Porter, and to prevent the city's business from being tied up until the November election, Council repealed the ordinance in question and passed an identical ordinance as an emergency measure, providing the same salary. The ordinance was declared an emergency because such legislation is not subject to a referendum vote.

LARUE, March 12—"Education in Fascist Italy" was discussed by Dr Walter L Collins, superintendent of Kenton public schools, at a P.-T A. meeting here Monday evening. Dr Collins served in the Mediterranean area during World War II, in charge of the reorganization of public schools after the fall of Fascism. His talk was illustrated with textbooks, report cards, membership cards, handbooks, and banners from various Fascist groups, and by a parent-teacher banner presented to the rooms having 100 per cent enrollment of parents in the Fascist party. The program was in charge of the teachers. Mr. Barden introduced Dr. Collins.

Rev. C A. Hutchison, Miss Eileen Ritchey and Miss Betty Lu Hutchison also were on the program. The group voted $116 toward new curtains for the school auditorium. In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

THREE schoolboys in sweaters in San Fran sco . . . serious . . . spring . . . 1945 . . .

I never knew their names . . . They were three boys and we talked a minute . . They asked a question . . . I didn't know the answer then . . .

Maybe they have their answer now . . .

It was May 18 . . The war in Europe was over 11 days . . Allied statesmen from everywhere were in San Francisco.

The statesmen were setting up the United Nations . . A thrilling time . . . . hopeful . . . people and statesmen talked of the new world coming . . .

James Marlow

The statesmen worked hard . . day and night, talked, argued, joked, split hairs over every word going into the United Nations charter . . .

They started off the charter with: "We the peoples of the United Nations determined to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war . . To reaffirm faith . . In the dignity and worth of the human person . . "

The whole allied world watched what was happening in San Francisco. Words poured out of there by the millions . . .

On that warm and sunny afternoon by May 18, 1945, about 10,000 high school students from in and around San Francisco sat down in a huge auditorium . . .

They were going to get a little taste of foreign affairs first hand . . . They had gathered to hear a diplomat talk of UN and the new world . . .

HE SEEMED VERY HAPPY, full of hope. Full of happiness even . . "Mr President . . ." He began, talking to the youngsters . . .

He said he began that way because in this American democracy he thought he might then be speaking to a future president or first lady . . .

He talked easily, with good cheer, and the boys and girls listened. He talked of the UN and democracy and his hopes of the bright future.

He had reason to be cheerful. Early in the war his country, a democracy, had been overrun by the Nazis and now was free again.

And as I watched the students walking out later I wondered. Are they thinking seriously about this and the future?

At the door I stopped for a minute to talk to three boys in sweaters. I asked them how much thinking they and their friends were doing about UN . . .

AND YESTERDAY I went back and looked up the story I wrote then on what they had said:

"The tallest boy said 'We're taking it a lot more seriously than other people think we are. Not all of us, sure. But a lot of us. But sometimes we think we're getting propaganda about how good the new world will be. What we want to know is the truth . . .

"The three looked at me solemnly. The tallest said 'If this is going to be our world, then we want people right now to tell us truthfully what kind of world. We want them to tell us honestly what they think and feel.'"

Then we parted . . I didn't see them again . . Since that day in May, 1945, I've thought about them often, wondering what they were learning about the truth of the world they're living in.

A lot of things have happened since then . . . Fighting in China, in Indonesia, in India, in Palestine . . . Poland, Bulgaria, Romania, Yugoslavia, Hugary have all gone Communist . . . We've poured help into Greece to help fight Communists . . . .

AND A WEEK AGO, the Communists, without fighting, took over in Czechoslovakia . . . Feeling in this country grew bitter and hard . . .

And two days ago Secretary of State Marshall solemnly told a news conference that the world situation is "very, very serious" and there's a "reign of terror" in Czechoslovakia.

Marshall spoke a few hours after word was received here that Jan Masaryk had died in Prague, the Czechoslovak capital.

The official announcement in Prague—where the Communists are in control—said he had jumped to his death from a window.

Masaryk, tall, bald and a merry kind of man, was the foreign minister of Czechoslovakia. Reports from Prague said he recently had looked worried.

But he didn't look worried or worn that May day in 1945 when he talked to the 10,000 boys and girls in San Francisco about democracy and the new world coming.

If I knew those three boys who so earnestly wanted to know the truth of the world they're living in, I'd ask them now if Masaryk's unsmiling finish gave them any of the answer . . .

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATION

CHRIST in You, THE HOPE of Glory

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION

Job 14:14. "If a man die shall he live again?"

THIS disturbing question has plagued men for ages. It comes most forcibly to all of us when we lose a loved one or a close friend. Only in the Bible and Christian experience in the hour of death can an answer be found to this question.

Jesus said to Martha when she came to him broken-hearted over her brother's death, "I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in Me, though he were head, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die." Jesus was constantly speaking of eternal redemption of the righteous and eternal loss of the wicked. We have His truth, His promises, and His own resurrection on which we can anchor our hope of immortality.

Furthermore, we have the testimony of a great host of Christians who have faced the hour of death fearlessly and triumphantly. Also, to those Christians who remain, divine comfort and assurance inspire their faith in the certainty of life eternal.

"O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"

HISTORY PROFESSOR BIBLE CLASS SPEAKER

Dr. Hastings Eells of O.W.U. Addresses Marion Group.

"The Crisis of Our Age" was the subject of Dr. Hastings Eells, professor of history at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, at a meeting of the Wednesday noon Bible class this week at the Y.M.C.A. After his introductory statements that, from the professional historian's point of view "every moment is a crisis," but, preferring to avoid that term, and looking at the great definite turning points in civilization, he developed his talk under the following points. He spoke first of "five crisis in our age," "four things which will not solve our problems," "three world aims," and "a six-point program" for developing those aims. In regard to the last named, he declared that "Christianity has the basis for this."

Crises of "our age" he listed as military, discovery of gun powder; economic, result of industrialization; ideological or political thinking, democracies, and since World War I, communism; the state; and crisis of decision. "War creates more war," he said. "In the world of economics, a nation to be a first rate power must be industrialized, only a few nations can be, because possession of coal and oil are necessary. The present ideological struggle is between communism and Christianity.

"The League of Nations or the United Nations will not solve our problems. We have had a United States, which is a league. We need a United States with uniform laws in such things as wills, marriage and divorce.

"The big nation works because it establishes law and order, has strong enough force to back up its promises to protect small nations. Peace of U. S. and Canada is an example. A program to establish these aims will need much effort and money, no wastefulness, and war is wasteful.

For the next meeting the subject, "Has the Church Capitulated to Secularism?" will be discussed by Dr. B. F. Crawford of North Lewisburg.

CLASS ENTERTAINED

The Happy Thought class of the First Evangelical and Reformed church was entertained Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Ray Jacobs on East Church street, with Mrs. Dora Jones serving as assistant hostess. In answer to roll call, members gave their favorite recipe, and several letters were read from former members. During the social hour, high honors in contests went to Mrs. Wayne Barnhill and Mrs. Forest Hayman, and the consolation to Mrs. Arthur Parratt. Mrs. Fred Felchlin was a guest.

MUNICIPAL COURT REPORT

The city received $1,524.60 of the $3,399.81 in fees and fines collected by municipal court in February in both the criminal and civil divisions, according to a report prepared by Mrs. Clara Fleck, deputy clerk. The street repair received $257 and $1,267.60 went to the city's general fund. The law library received $1,486.30 and the remainder was divided among the county treasury $15, sheriff $12, for turnkey fees, and the state treasurer, $257. An additional $104.91 went into the general fund from the civil division of the court.

No Muss, No Fuss

THE nature of the Finnish delegation designated to negotiate a treaty with the Soviet Union is the tip-off as to how these negotiations will progress. Three of the seven-man delegation are members of the leftist Finnish Democratic Union. One is the Communist minister of the interior and head of the Finnish police. When a European state allows a Communist to get control of the police, that state is ripe and ready to fall to the Communists.

While the three Communist sympathizers constitute a minority, the majority will have to deal not only with the Russians but also with their colleagues, who will make common cause with the Russians.

It really wouldn't matter if seven violent anti-Communists had comprised the Finnish delegation. Unpleasant words might have been spoken and the situation might have been tense. As it is, the Communist minority, plus Russian backing, will swing the deal to the Communists with no muss, no fuss—just a little stirring as the situation comes to a simmer.

Policy Revision

THE time is approaching when congress must begin pondering the farm price support program. The government is committed to continue the present support policy until the end of the next marketing season, which in the case of corn will be September, 1949, but in some commodities will end this year.

The war era price support policy caused such anomalies as food being destroyed by the government to keep prices up, while consumers were complaining of high prices. It saw retail buyers purchasing eggs at abnormally high prices while the government frantically sought more storage space for surplus eggs it was taking off the market.

In casting about for a new farm policy, it is easier to say what it should not contain than what it should. Certainly a means should be found to eliminate artificial price supports in so far as possible and let farm prices find their own level. The program should look forward to a day when the farmer stands on his own two feet in a free market where a self-adjusting price structure rewards diligence and thrift while punishing sloth and inefficiency.

Ever-normal granary reserves should be built up against possible crop failures. If subsidies are necessary, they should be paid only on food raised for domestic use. Surpluses beyond domestic needs should be sold for what they will bring, the only practicable way of moving surplus.

The postwar farm policy should look forward to the day when the farmer can operate free of government regulation and without government subsidies. No industry that needs crutches is healthy.

Public Printer Retires

AT SOME time or other, every American has used or read handiwork from the office of Augustus E. Giegengack, the public printer. As head of the world's largest print plant for 14 years, he supervised the printing of the flood of forms and pamphlets that has poured out of Washington in increasing volume. He streamlined the government printing office, introduced cost accounting and enlivened the typography of government publications.

Now he is joining the growing list of federal officials resigning because they can do so much better in private jobs.

"Gus" Giegengack may make more money in private life but the product of his shop will never reach so large a public.

For the Preservation of Liberty

A REVIVAL of interest in doing something to improve the surroundings of the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's island in New York harbor reflects the nation's determination to preserve the liberty the statue symbolizes.

Americans are feeling stirrings of conscience about their neglect of liberty's maintenance in all ways. There has been gross negligence.

It would take perhaps $1,500,000 to deal with the consequences of neglecting the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's island. It will take not money but wisdom, strong purpose and endless patience to deal with the consequences of neglecting liberty throughout the United States.

Bedloe's island is cluttered with unsightly debris. The pedestal on which the Statue of Liberty stands needs attention. Something can be done about that: some money can be spent. Something also must be done about the debris that's defacing the dignity of Liberty itself: some diligence and effort must be put into its restoration.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Regarding Prof. Dunn and His Letter.

I SAW a letter in The New York Times, signed by L. C. Dunn, professor of zoology, Columbia university. So I read the letter and found that it quarreled with the Thomas committee over the Condon case. Dunn says that the Thomas committee made three false statements concerning an organization of which he was president. I give his words:

"(1) The American-Soviet Science society has no connection with the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship; (2) It has not been cited as a subversive organization by the attorney general; (3) It has at no time had anything to do with any 'Communist endeavors' or with any except strictly scientific purposes."

SOKOLSKY

Well, sometimes we do too much research and discover nothing. This time it was simple. We picked up the telephone book and there it is, The American-Soviet Science society is listed at 114 East 32 street, telephone Murray Hill 3-2080; the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship is listed at 114 East 32 street, telephone Murray Hill 3-2080. No connection" On March 8, 1948, according to "Information," (Dial 411), these numbers were as stated in the telephone book.

So, we sent a photographer down to 114 East 32 street and he produced a photograph showing that the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc., occupies rooms 803-5 in that building, while the American-Soviet Science society occupies room 804. Also in room 804 is the American-Soviet Music society. In room 803 is the reporter on American-Soviet relations.

So, Dr. Dunn's letter to The New York Times does no exhibit scientific precision. In fact, the telephone book and the bulletin board establish intimate relations, a sort of marriage of offices, telephones and probably office help. That knocks his denial into a cocked hat.

Why the Letter?

What I cannot understand is why Dr. Dunn wrote that letter to the Times. After all, he must have known that his telephone number and office are identical with the National Council of American - Soviet Friendship. There could be no guessing about that. Why risk being exposed by a telephone book?

Now let us take a look at Professor Leslie Clarence Dunn. He has been professor of zoology at Columbia university since 1928. He is a man of distinction in his field, having been trained at Dartmouth and Harvard. For a number of years he has chosen to associate himself with organizations avowedly friendly to Soviet Russia.

For instance, he has been an executive committee member of the American Committee for Democracy and Intellectual Freedom; a sponsor of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born; an executive board member of the American Committee to Save Refugees; member of the board of editors of the American Review of Soviet Medicine; a sponsor of the American Russian Institute; member, editorial council of the publication, Equality, sponsor, emergency conference on deportations. There is more of this. Most of these agencies have been designated as Communist fronts either by the Dies committee, the Thomas committee, Attorney General Biddle, Attorney General Clark or other government agencies. Some of the pro-Russian organizations which Professor Dunn prefers, he has supported as recently as this year.

Prof. Dunn Signed This

On July 19, 1942, the American Communists published in their Daily Worker an open letter on Harry Bridges which contained the following sentence:

"It is equally essential that the attorney general's ill-advised, arbitrary, and unwarranted findings relative to the Communist party be rescinded." This is not a defense of Bridges but of the Communist party and while most Americans would not hold this to be sound in 1948, it was equally unsound in 1942. Professor Dunn's name appears as a signer of this "open letter."

Professor Dunn's most recent affiliations with Communist front organizations are his membership in the Citizens Committee to defend Representative Government and his sponsorship of the Emergency Conference on Deportations. The former organization was set up in February, 1948, as a propaganda instrument for the seating of the Communist, Simon W. Gerson, on the New York city council; it includes such Communist leaders as Ben Gold and Irving Potash. The latter organization, the Emergency Conference on Deportations, has been called to meet on April 4, 1948, for the purpose of protesting against the arrest of alien Communists.

Our "Policy" on Palestine

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

THE blasts and counter-blasts being issued by Andrei Gromyko and Warren R. Austin, Soviet and American delegates to the United Nations security council, hardly indicate that the current consultations on Palestine will lead to any positive result. Thus the question is being ever more urgently posed: What is American policy on Palestine? On the basis of available evidence, the answer apears to be simple. There is no American policy on Palestine.

One important decision has indeed been made, and approved by President Truman. That is that American troops will not be sent to Palestine under any now forseeable circumstances to enforce partition or for any other purpose. But such a wholly negative decision can hardly be called a policy. Rather, the American reaction to the terrible Palestine dilemma has amounted to little more than a kind of desperate thrashing about.

Thus hopes are now being expressed that the British can somehow be persuaded to stay for another six months, to delay a full-scale explosion for at least that long. The British have so far given no grounds whatsoever for believing that these hopes can be fulfilled.

Letters From Truman

In the same way, various despairing attempts have been made to persuade the Arab leaders to accept the United Nations recommendation. The most important of these attempts has been a recent series of letters, dispatched in President Truman's name to a number of Arab heads of state, including Saudi Arabia's Ibn Saud. The Truman letters stated in substance that it was believed that Arab opposition to a sovereign Jewish state in Palestine sprung from a fear that such a state would be used as a base for Jewish expansion into Arab territory. To allay such fears, Truman offered to press for a United States and United Nations guaranty of the borders of the proposed Jewish state.

Ibn Saud's response was typical of the rest. He pointed out that Presidents of the United States changed and so did American policy. He asserted further that the United Nations, having proposed one Jewish state, could later propose a larger one. He thus intimated that the Truman letter was meaningless

Arabs Maneuvering

Certain counter-feelers, unofficial and of doubtful real significance, have been received from the Arabs. Azzam Pasha, the clever and influential secretary of the Arab league, has intimated unofficially that the Arabs will lay down arms, if the Jews will do likewise, for a period of reconsideration. Such a truce would at least have the merit of postponing the Palestinian blood-bath which so clearly threatens. But it seems unlikely that the offer has much substance. Azzam Pasha could hardly control effectively the armed bands of the blood-thirsty Mufti of Jerusalem, any more than the Jewish agency could control the Irgun and Stern gangs.

There have been other Arab hints. Representatives of three Arab nations have intimated unofficially that the Arabs would accept further Jewish immigration into Palestine on a fairly large scale—up to 100,000—on condition that partition be abandoned. This would never be accepted by the Zionists.

Vanished Hopes

Other hopes have gone glimmering. France, Norway, Belgium, Denmark, The Netherlands and a number of South American nations have let it be known that they will have no part of a "small nations force" to impose partition. The hope that clown-ish King Abdullah of Transjordan might somehow provide a way out has been blasted by Abdullah himself, who has no wish to expose himself to the Mufti's assassins. A United Nations trusteeship for Palestine has been considered. But if the United States were to be the trustee—and no other western nation would take the job—that would mean American troops in Palestine, inheriting all the miseries of the British troops now leaving, and solving nothing.

Moreover, it might mean Soviet troops in Palestine, as Gromyko's present stand seems to hint. The Soviets would demand a Soviet zone in Palestine. This would shortly become an inclosed Soviet colony, complete with lines of supply back to the Soviet Union through the Dardanelles or Iran and Iraq. Past history has demonstrated that nations through which Soviet lines of supply pass have little chance of long maintaining their independence.

Just a Minute

By Jack Tarver

A Heap of Five-Grain Tablets

According to figures just released, residents of the United States last year consumed more than ten million pounds of aspirin.

Aspirin consumption is coming to be accepted more widely than steel production as an economic index.

Although the 1947 figure was an all-time record, this year's consumption is expected to be even greater, what with sky-rocketing Democratic demand.

Whatever his other capacities, Harry Truman is one of the few men in history to have two headaches simultaneously.

But even in non-political years, aspirin is big business: Most drugstores get almost as much revenue from the sale of aspirin as sandwiches.

Moreover, it's a year-round proposition and not at all seasonal, except for an annual flurry about this time of year.

Incidentally, there's no truth in the report that congress is considering mailing out a box of aspirin with each Form 1040 as a compromise means of tax relief.

No Glue in That Saddle!

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, March 12, 1938.

About 1,000 German infantrymen landed from planes and began marching into Vienna, as Adolf Hitler returned in triumph to his native Austria. They planned to take part in a great torchlight procession through the city and it was hoped Hitler would review the demonstration with the new Nazi government of Austria.

A number of Canadian prairie chickens were distributed at the Fred Hoch farm, a state game preserve. They were a part of the 150 fowls to be released in the county.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Armbruster of Patterson street.

O. W. Gamble, 50, Erie railroad employe, died at his home on King avenue.

Miss Minnie B. Titus of Morral, 65, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert McCormick of East Farming street.

A. H. Marks and John E. Davis of Kadgar Grotto were among the 250 Ohio men attending the thirtieth anniversary of Ormus Grotto in Dayton.

Harding High school basketball team was nosed out, 45 to 44, by the Newark Red Raiders in the finals of the district Class A basketball tournament at Delaware.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, March 12, 1928.

A "progressive Marion" movement which had its inception in a civic meeting sponsored by the Rotary club, was spreading through the city with virtually all civic, commercial and industrial interests taking part. The movement was started at the weekly luncheon of Rotary at Hotel Harding with Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, speaking on "Civic Blood Pressure."

The Marion city council and the county commissioners were in a controversy over charges made by the county for board of city prisoners in the jail. The city solicitor, George T. Geran, was authorized by council to solicit bids from jails outside the county.

John J. Griffiths, 78, died at his home in Prospect.

Mrs. W. H. McGee was hostess to the Woman's club at her home on Cherry street.

The Peppy Dinner Bridge club was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Furniss at their home on East Center street.

On Dropping Truman

By Raymond Moley

PILGRIMS returning from Washington over the past week report that the capital is blue with pessimism about keeping out of war with Russia. But this subject is only a little higher on the topical lists than the bitter prospects of Democratic jobholders. The Truman prestige is at a new low. Perhaps there is some connection between these two foci of grief. When a fellow—in this case a Democrat—sees his personal ship sinking, it is not strange for him to imagine that the world, too, is moving toward catastrophe.

The Czech putsch, the Finnish squeeze, the imminent Italian election, the dreadful straits of Britain, the need to push the Marshall Plan—all play a part in war talk, of course. And so does the military atmosphere in official Washington.

MOLEY

But to return to the Truman doctrine, one can have little sympathy for those Democrats who were responsible for the Missouri senator's nomination for vice president. In Edward J. Flynn's book, "You're the Boss," there is a cold-blooded and, I am sure, truthful account of the selection of Truman. When the party leaders, including Flynn, met with Roosevelt to select a running mate, the late President was tired, ill and indifferent. He veered from one choice to another and finally agreed to the argument of Flynn. That argument was that, of all the many aspirants, Truman would do the ticket the least harm. Nobody, says Flynn, could have helped a ticket headed by Roosevelt. Then, when Wallace became a threat in Chicago, the strategists figured that Truman, because of his origin in a border state, would be most likely to win over the several southern favorites for the vice presidency.

And so Truman was selected, for no other reason other than these. No one brought up the potential qualities of the man. Considering all this, the Democrats and the country are fortunate that Truman has proved to be as good as he is.

Ironical Turn

It is ironical that the South took Truman to defeat Wallace, and now Truman slaps the south to win votes from Wallace.

In all the maneuvering in 1944, it was clear that Truman himself was not eager to be nominated. He was responding to his deep instinct to be loyal to his party. Even now, it is not clear that he wants to run again. I learned in Kansas City last week that he has expressed to his intimates in Independence a yearning for home.

But talk of dropping Truman must be taken with great reservations. He is surrounded by men whose only hope is in Truman. There is no outstanding alternative. In this situation a party must close ranks and move with what it has. The last instance in which a vice president was dropped was that of Chester A. Arthur in 1884. Arthur, like Truman, had done well under trying circumstances. He wanted to be renominated. But there had been so many indications of public disapproval of the party that to renominate Arthur would have been suicidal. Also, there was Blaine, an authentic great man who had strongly contested the nomination twice before.

There is no Blaine in the present Democratic party.

Finally, a word of warning is in order. The sad status of the Truman case may be temporary. He has been popular before. He may gain in the months to come.

American Scepter

Speaking before congress recently Representative Walt Horan of Washington called attention to the fact that the house of representatives has the only scepter-like symbol of authority in the United States.

"I never bring visitors into the house," he said, "without pointing out to them the only scepter-like symbol of authority in America, the mace. When the speaker is in the chair, the mace is on top of that marble pedestal there on the rostrum . . . When we are sitting in the committee of the whole House on the state of the union, the mace is dropped down to a position at the base of the column.

"That is the only scepter in America. It is not down in the White House. It is not on the other side of the Capitol. It does not rest in some closet in a bureau downtown. The mace and the responsibility that goes with it are right here in the chamber where we are sitting."

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Winter Resort in March

MIAMI BEACH—The tourist season is coming to a close in the Florida dizzy zone and is now possible to come here for a rest... The winter resorts, as the regular season closes, are becoming not only habitable but comfortable. Our winter playgrounds take on wonderful appeal when most of the visitors leave.

* * *

Autoists are cutting their speed down to ten instead of eighty miles an hour....Nobody boasts loudly of paying $40 a day for a room. ..The swimming pools no longer look like submerged subway platforms .. All cabanas are not salt water rumpus rooms ...Bathers are frequently seen consulting time tables instead of racing charts.

PHILLIPS

The idea that the Miami area is bounded on the east by electric rabbits, on the west by crap games, on the north by police probes and on the south by daily doubles now fades a little....People sleep nights....You can get a table where they charge $5 for steaks without being a columnist, a racketeer or a sheriff.

You can start for the races after lunch and get there with all fenders accounted for... Children can be taken to the beaches and not embarrass mother by screaming "Look, mums! There's Dracula in shorts!"....Every third person isn't a ham actor, an over press agented night club comic or a Hollywood producer. The potted palm in the hotel lobby has been freshened up and no longer resembles an inverted broom in a sandbox full of cigaret stubs, burnt matches and chewing gum wrappers.

Visitors at this time of year take their time getting a tan and do not confuse the sun with a charcoal broiler....They know the human face is not a double lamb chop....Many females look like females....The conversation anywhere is as apt to be about the scenery as about big money deals... The weather is fine....Renting of a cottage doesn't entail the job of getting a cord of wood.

Real estate operators are talking sense. Owners of a $25,000 home are cutting their sales price down from $150,000 to $110,000... The couple who didn't get much publicity all winter are announcing that they were robbed of their jewels in beach hotels....Almost every crowd includes at least one person who is not famous as a character in a divorce scandal, a bankruptcy, a black market operation or a murder trial... The Miami railroad stations look less like Stillman's Gym. . .

For once horses, instead of being served with pink flamingoes and Seminole braves are presented as strictly horses, with beer and pretzels. The drugstore clerk doesn't give you poison through trying to dope out a prescription and a horse race at the same time ...People seem to be enjoying themselves . Here and there may be seen somebody who knows how to get a rest without sweating....

* * *

The scene in front of no hotel looks like the morning line up at police headquarters (in technicolor tailoring).....And, hey, look!....We just saw a fat woman not shopping in PAJAMAS!

YE GOTHAM BUGLE AND BANNER

How can anybody watch the performances of our politicians these days and say vaudeville is dead?....Radio station owners want the right to go on the air and express editorial opinions ... Why not?....They have as much right to be wrong as anybody else....Overheard in a crowd watching Broadway's biggest drawing attraction (the man frying eggs in a window): "I think it gets better in the second act."... Don't miss the grand prize offer of Ye Gotham Bugle & Banner for the best line to rhyme with "I Like Ye Bugle & Banner because....." Prizes will include one year's receipts from all the toll gates within 100 miles of New York, the top twenty floors of Rockefeller City and $1,000,000,000 in gold... Eddie Luckenbach has quit show business to stick to the shipping industry....In the ship business, Eddie, you at least have the benefit of a barometer, compass and life boat ...Some folks are calling that British playwright J. B. Preachley ...Hen Morgan in a burlesque of radio prize programs offers his prizes for anybody completing the sentence beginning with "I"

Eating crow with both hands, Ye ed is all the more humiliated over his selection of Gene Tunney as The Walking Man by the fact that before the contest was ten days old, he had Mr. and Mrs. Twitchell naming Jack Benny. "Bing Bong Bell would mean a loud bell" said Mrs. Twitchell in this column in mid January. "It's Big Ben ...The walking man's name is Benjamin....No, I have it!....Jack Benny!" Like that well known turfite, Shudda Haddim, we get switched.

The Reform Itch

By TRUMAN TWILL

The itch to make things neat and orderly, unlike most subjects written about here, is a matter of great importance.

It explains why strong men in strong governments study maps and issue orders to stooges in cutaway coats and striped pants to make the necessary threats and promises to bring thirc-rate powers into line, also why wars begin.

It's the motive behind the schemes of empire that have bloodied the world's nose from time to time. Someone looked at the disorderly array of weak nations and loosely held areas and yielded to the urge to make everything shipshape, against determined opposition.

It's behind the pursed-lip studying of the evidence of confusion which surrounds human beings wherever they have had sufficient time to make a mess of things—in slums, in high society, and in organizations of all kinds. Sooner or later someone pops out of the woodwork, announces briskly that it's time for a complete reform—and the fight is on.

It's the motif of that psychopathic phenomenon called housecleaning, which has less to do with cleaning and more to do with rearranging other people's lives than women care to admit. After all, what does moving papa's chair from where he wants it to be to where mama thinks it should be have to do with cleanliness?

The urge to make everything neat and orderly is a kind of mental spasm that drives the victim to extreme action, beyond any restraint of judgment. This may last for a few minutes, or it may endure for years, as it did in the case of Hitler who wanted to tidy up the world, beginning with Europe. The result was a correspondingly spasm set off by desire to tidy up Hitler.

There are no limits to it. Millions of otherwise placid persons have the itch to tidy up the world, in varying degrees. They can hardly wait in springtime to rake up the debris, plant grass and make everything neat and orderly. They spend the summer trimming, cutting and pruning, in the autumn they rake up the disorderly leaves and in winter they shovel up the disorderly snow. In their spare time they think up schemes for making over people's lives, reforming organizations that need reform, remodeling houses that weren't planned right, and draw up new constitutions and by-laws for people who don't want them—but should have them because anyone can see with half an eye that things as they are are neither neat nor orderly.

GUNDERS REMODEL FUNERAL HOME HERE

Work Started on West Center Street Establishment.

M. H. Gunder and Sons, funeral home, announced today the remodeling and expansion of their funeral home at 347 West Center street is reaching an advanced stage of construction.

Plans now being implemented call for a complete remodeling of the structure inside and out and the addition of an upstairs room, 15 by 24 feet, at the rear of the building. Removal of the tower and porches which for many years distinguished the building and covering of the entire structure with white asbestos shingles will completely change the identity of the structure.

The interior of the building will be entirely remodeled with the new second floor room to be used as a preparation room. Other interior alterations will provide more living quarters for the Gunder family, an additional service room for funerals, and two new lounges. The alterations will increase facilities by an estimated 20 per cent.

The present location was first occupied by Mr. Gunder in 1915, five years after the founding of his firm on Blaine avenue. The house was then known as the Kleinmaier property, and was constructed before the turn of the century by John Springer, then superintendent of the Marion Mfg. Co. It was remodeled by Mr. Springer in 1895.

Five members of the Gunder family are active in the operation of the establishment. Service by the firm will continue throughout the period of remodeling. The construction is being done by the Baldauf Construction Co.

Galion Ministers Withdraw Protest

Special to The Star

GALION — After a conference between representatives of the Galion Ministerial association and M. E. Shank, school superintendent, the ministers have decided not to carry through their protest of the abandonment of pre-Easter assembly programs in the junior and senior high schools which for many years were under the direction of the ministerial association.

The policy of having the student body direct these services in the Junior and Senior High schools was adopted last year under Supt. M. A. Povenmire after a religious group of the city opposed sponsorship of the programs by the Galion Ministerial association. The programs last year were in charge of the student body of the two high schools, and it is now planned to have these programs sponsored again this year by the pupils, rather than the Galion ministerial association. Pre-Easter programs in the grades will be directed by the ministerial group.

Action was taken, Tuesday afternoon, by the ministerial association, to protest the student-sponsored programs and recommend that the Galion ministerial association again be in charge of the programs. According to a spokeman for the ministers, their decision Wednesday, was made because of the recent ruling by the United States Supreme Court on religious education in the schools.

CHOIR TO GIVE CONCERT HERE

Final Plans Made for Appearance of Ohio State Musical Group.

Final arrangements are under way by members of the Harding High school a cappella choir for entertaining the Ohio State university symphonic choir which will be in Marion Saturday night to present a concert.

The symphonic choir, one of the nation's best-known college choral groups and directed by Prof. Louis H. Diercks, will present its concert at 8 p. m. Saturday in the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school auditorium. The choir is being brought here under the sponsorship of the Harding choir.

Reports show that a large number of tickets have been sold for the concert. They can still be obtained from members of the Harding choir.

Preceding the concert, members of the Harding choral group are entertaining the Columbus choir with a potluck supper at 5 o'clock in the social rooms at the Emanuel Lutheran church. A program, including selections by the male quartet and girls ensemble, will be presented by the host choir at that time.

Miss Janis Jones, daughter of L. G. Jones, director of the Harding a cappella choir, is a member of the Columbus symphonic choir. She is a senior this year at Ohio State.

The symphonic choir of more than 50 voices was appearing today in a special program at the Peristyle, art museum, in Toledo. Another appearance in the choir's schedule of 1948 concerts will be at the Music Educators' National Conference in Detroit, April 30.

An outstanding part of the program to be presented Saturday night will be a ballet number with unaccompanied chorus as background. The dance organization is known in the choir as Orchesis.

Stoker Trouble Halts Activities in Court

Business of the municipal court was postponed this morning when the clerk's office staff was literally "frozen out." Trouble with the stoker in the Eagles building left the building without heat for approximately four hours in zero weather early this morning.

Other municipal offices in the building conducted business as usual, although for several hours employes worked in reportedly "very chilly" offices.

The municipal clerk's office on the first floor adjoining the corner entrance to the building apparently cooled off the most. Steam pipes retained enough heat to keep second story offices from becoming prohibitively cold.

TRUMAN DENIES HE MADE RACIAL SLUR

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 12—President Truman yesterday branded as "a lie out of the whole cloth" Columnist Drew Pearson's report that the Chief Executive once had termed New York Jews disloyal.

Pearson, whom the President did not identify by name, insisted later that his version was "all too accurate." He added, "But I'm glad the President has now reconsidered his intemperate words."

Mr. Truman opened his news conference with the denial and said his remarks could be quoted directly, a departure from usual procedure. He told the reporters to read the New York Mirror to find out about the column. The newsmen heard the President use the term "gossip paper," but the word "gossip" was omitted in his official White House version of his remarks:

"First, I want to pay attention to a vicious statement that was made by a columnist in a New York paper, in which he said I had made the statement here to an editor of a New York paper that the Jews in New York were disloyal. "I had thought I wouldn't have to add another liar's star to that fellow's crowd, but I will have to do it. That is just a lie out of the whole cloth. That is as emphatic as I can put it."

In his "Washington Merry-Go-Round" column Monday in the Mirror, Pearson wrote: "President Truman was talking to a New York publisher about Palestine. Pounding his desk, he made remarks about 'the — New York Jews.' 'They're disloyal to their country. Disloyal!' he cried.

"'Would you explain that further, Mr. President,' interrupted the publisher, whose wife happens to be Jewish. 'When you speak of New York Jews are you referring to such people as Bernard Baruch?' Or are you referring to such New York Jews as my wife?' Truman glared, assured his visitor he did not mean to include Baruch or the publisher's wife—then abruptly changed the subject."

In New York, an executive of Bell syndicate, which distributes Pearson's column, said he knows but can't name the source of the story, adding: "We consider it to be fairly reliable." The executive asked that his name not be used. Glenn Neville, executive editor of the New York Mirror, said he had no comment except "we are delighted at any publicity Mr. Truman can give us."

BEACH MUST DIE FOR SEX SLAYING OF GIRL

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 12—Harold A. Beach must die in the electric chair for the New Year's night sex slaying of eight-year-old Sheila Ann Tuley, a common pleas court jury decided last night.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated three hours and two minutes before reaching a verdict of first degree murder. The panel failed to recommend mercy, making the death sentence mandatory.

Common Pleas Judge Samuel H. Silbert deferred sentence until Tuesday, when counsel for Beach will argue a motion for a new trial.

Execution cannot be before June 19, at the expiration of 100 days.

Beach, who will be 23 tomorrow, was expressionless as he heard the verdict.

During all the polling of the jury, he looked straight forward, never turning his head in the direction of the men and women who had condemned him to death.

After the jury had been polled, Judge Silbert asked the confessed slayer if he had anything to say.

"Nothing to say," he replied in a nearly inaudible voice.

Beach was led out of the courtroom handcuffed to a deputy sheriff.

CLEARED OF FRAUD CHARGES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 12—Harrison M. Boyd, 59, was acquitted yesterday of charges of fraud in the sale of home sites to war veterans. He had been accused of obtaining five $150 down payments under false pretense and of misrepresenting financing arrangements. Denying the charges, he contended that he merely told veterans what he had been told by persons whom he contacted on building plans and financing.

CROSSING CRASH KILLS 2

NEW LONDON, O., March 12—Two men were killed when a New York Central passenger train hit their truck at the Omega road crossing near this Huron county community. The driver of the truck, Chester L. Sweet, 39, of Greenwich, O., was killed instantly in yesterday's crash. His passenger, Joel Stout, 51, also of Greenwich, died last night in New London hospital.

U.S.-RUSS CONFLICT MAY KILL PARTITION

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 12—Worsening relations between the United States and Russia may deal a death blow to Palestine partition.

Some United Nations delegates said today they believe Palestine may become only a minor item in the overall American-Russian diplomatic conflict.

They figure Palestine might quickly be lost in the shuffle of larger affairs if the worsening conditions — noted by President Truman in Washington yesterday—can not be righted by sudden action.

The United States is becoming more cautious daily in its approach to the problem of forcibly putting through the UN-approved split-up of the Holy Land into Jewish and Arab nations. The other great powers also are feeling their way along.

Resumption of big power consultations on Palestine is scheduled today in this atmosphere at the New York offices of the French UN delegation.

Russia yesterday dimmed American hopes of a peaceful future for partition. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko threatened to walk out of the big power parleys if Arabs and Jews were brought in for further conciliation efforts.

So far the Arabs have spurned mediation unless partition is scrapped first. The Jews want partition.

Five Auto Accidents Reported by Police

Five automobile accidents, due mainly to icy streets, are listed on police records today. Among them is one involving a car driven by Charles Armendinger of 191 Klein street and a vehicle owned by Owen Miller of 165 Franconia avenue, parked on Oak street. The Armendinger vehicle skidded into the parked car while stopping for a traffic light at 3 p. m. yesterday.

A car driven by Stuart Miller of 155 Johnson street slid into the rear of one driven by Stanley Baker, going west on East Center street, when the Baker car stopped for a traffic light at 1.20 p. m. yesterday.

Cars driven by Ralph Stoner of near Marion, going north on South Prospect street, and George Day of 241 Thew avenue, going south on Prospect at Pearl street, collided at 12.57 p. m. yesterday when the Stoner car skidded on the slippery street into the path of the Day vehicle.

A car driven by Mrs. Viola Rinnert of 321 Belmont street skidded into the rear of one driven by John Creasap of 916 Westwood drive at Columbia and Windsor streets at 1 p. m. when the Creasap car stopped before making a turn from West Columbia to Windsor.

Social and Lodge Events Planned by Elks Here

Second nomination of officers was held and plans outlined for several social and lodge events at a meeting of Marion Lodge No. 32, B. P. O. Elks, last night. Officers for the coming year will be elected at the next meeting and installation ceremonies will be held the first Thursday night in April.

Final arrangements were made for a fish fry to be followed by dancing, for the members and their ladies, tonight. Announcement was made of a district meeting to be held at Sandusky April 3 and 4 and plans were discussed for attending the two-day session. Other business included arrangements for the observance of past exalted rulers and "old timers night" on March 25.

greatest colonial powers, completed their efforts—on the western union suggested in January by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin—at 1:30 a. m. after more than a week around the conference table.

Sir George Rendel, chief of the British delegation and Britain's ambassador here, said upon emerging from the conference room that the delegates had agreed among themselves not to communicate any of the substance of the treaty before their governments approve it.

Questions as to whether the treaty provided for a permanent five power commission to carry out its provisions, Sir George shook his head.

"That," he said, "is one of the things I just cannot talk about."

MARSHALL PLAN IN MAJOR TEST TODAY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 12—The "great crisis" Secretary of State Marshall says is gripping the world sped the senate toward a crucial vote today on his European recovery program.

The issue was whether the Marshall plan bill should carry the $5,300,000,000 first year figure now planned or be cut to $4,000,000,000 as proposed by Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

Friends and foes alike agreed that today's vote would be the major test.

The bill itself is due to be approved—with one amount or the other—late tonight or tomorrow.

The President said the money is needed to keep the supply lines to non-Communist countries filled until Marshall plan help is available. And he termed it a matter of "extreme urgency" that the plan itself be approved quickly.

Congressional leaders now estimate this will be about April 10—just eight days before the Italian elections which may bring the crisis to its first climax.

Joint County Ditch Petition Rejected

A final summary of the legal battle waged over the improvement of the McDonald creek joint county ditch was issued today by Walter S Guthrie, clerk of the board of Marion county commissioners.

A hearing on the petition filed by Margery D Snyder of near LaRue, and 14 others, for improvement of the ditch was held Tuesday morning Interest in the proposed project was so great that the quarters in the commissioners office generally used for ditch hearings could not accommodate the crowd of 75 persons who attended The joint county board composed of the nine county commissioners of Union Hardin and Marion counties, moved their hearing into the common pleas courtroom to accommodate the throng of interested parties

Fifteen people petitioned for the improvement of the ditch and 63 persons filed remonstrances against the improvement At the same time five persons filed claims for damages which would result from the improvement of the ditch

The petition was turned down by the joint county board by a vote of 8 to 1, Commissioner William Risch of Marion county dissenting In an explanation of his dissenting vote Mr Risch stated his grounds as the necessity for certain specific changes in the ditch condition.

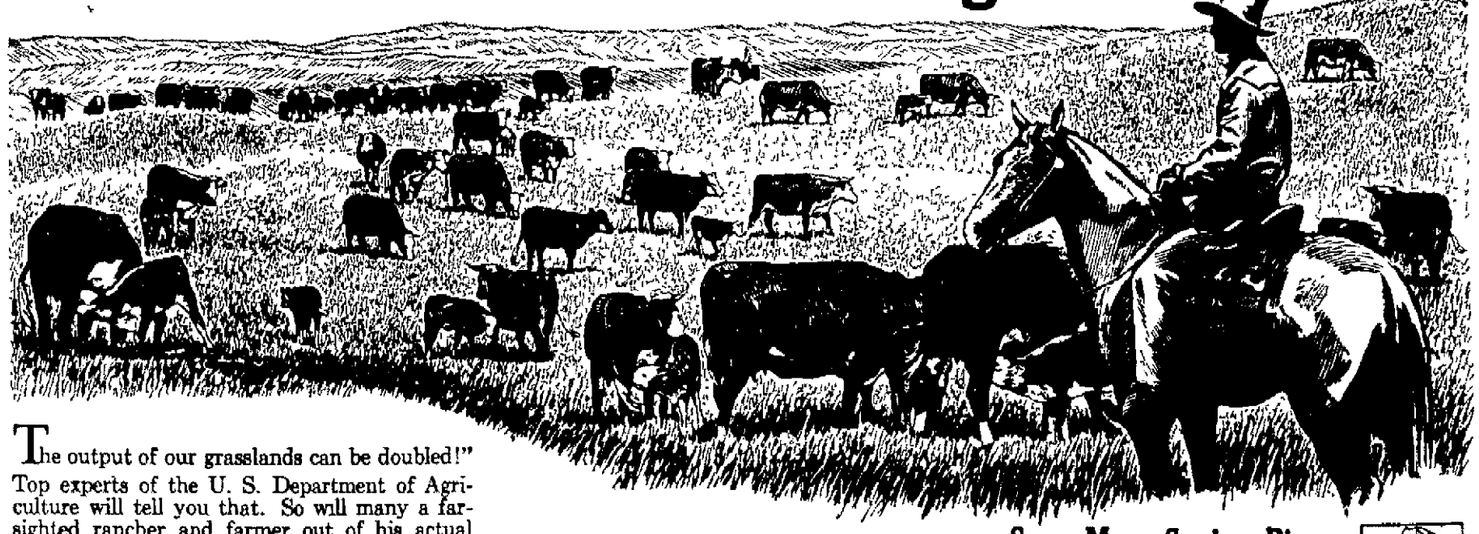
"Good" Grass Isn't Good Enough!



The output of our grasslands can be doubled!" Top experts of the U. S. Department of Agriculture will tell you that. So will many a far-sighted rancher and farmer out of his actual experience. So will students and teachers of land management everywhere ... In that bright possibility of range and pasture improvement lies one principal hope for more food for a hungry world. Not only more food, but better food. For proper grassland management will improve the fertility of the land, and the nutritive value of the foods coming off it. It will save the land, too, protecting the precious layer of topsoil from blowing away or washing off to sea. And it will increase the amount and value of hay for cash-crop or winter feeding.

The way is wide open for you to improve your grass. Strong and willing allies stand ready to help you. For advice and active help in planning your own grass-management program, there's your County Agent ... For technical, practical help in putting your program into operation, call on the Soil Conservation Service technician who lives in your district ... And for information on newest experimental developments, call on your State Agricultural College or experiment station.

The program of good management for your grassland which you work out together will probably consist of some—or perhaps all—of the following practices. If you're in the range country: (1) Livestock numbers balanced to the amount of grass you can produce. (2) A rotation schedule of seasonal grazing. (3) Water located conveniently. (4) Elimination of excessive brush. (5) Wider distribution of salt to prevent overgrazing near salt source. (6) Re-seeding of overused or abandoned range. (7) Introduction of improved native grasses and adapted new grasses. (8) Irrigation. (9) Protection against wind and water erosion. If yours is farm pasture land: (1) Liming. (2) Fertilization. (3) Seeding with pasture mixtures which stretch the grazing season at both ends. (4) Weed control by mowing or chemicals. (5) Rotation grazing. (6) Avoidance of over-grazing. (7) Irrigation.

We of Swift & Company have the same deep, basic interest that you have in range and pasture improvement. More and better grass is to our interest as it is to yours—and to the nation's. That's why we urge you to act, if you have not already done so, to increase the productiveness of your grasslands.

Save More Spring Pigs

by C. M. Vestal, Purdue University

C. M. Vestal

Surveys indicate that one out of every three pigs farrowed dies before weaning age. These death losses are one of the biggest leaks in the hog business. They can be reduced during the cold spring months by the use of electric brooders in individual farrowing houses or pens of a central house.

A three-year study and observation of 105 litters showed that an average of one and one-half more pigs was saved per litter when electric brooders were used in individual farrowing houses. The death loss from chilling was 10 per cent in the unheated houses against 2.2 per cent in those equipped with heated brooders. These losses in the houses without heat increased when the weather became colder. Outdoor temperature, however, had little if any effect on death losses when the electric brooders were used.

The electrically heated pig brooder, either home-made or a factory-made type, proved to be the most practical method of supplying heat. The brooder provides a small area in the pen or house which can be heated economically. The simplest type of brooder is a 150-watt reflector flood lamp suspended over a protected area for the pigs in a corner of the pen or house. Installation and use of electric pig brooders require the necessary careful handling of electricity.

Details for the construction of a pig brooder usually may be obtained from county agents or Agricultural Experiment Stations.

Profit Comes from SAVING!

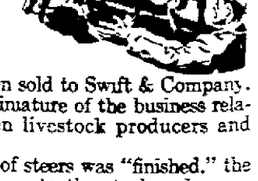
The story at the head of this page is about farmers and ranchers making the most of their grasslands. By good planning, managing well, and operating efficiently, they can grow more grass, produce more food for the world, and make more money. While writing that story, I was struck by a similarity in the Swift business. For it is careful planning and efficient operation that keep us in business, too. Like you with your grassland, we've got to make the most of what we have. We've got to practice efficiency. We, also, must cut costs, operate with economy. Not only the important economy of finding uses and markets for every possible by-product, but economy and efficiency all along the line.

Maybe you saw Swift's recent financial report for 1947 It showed that we earned $22,334,977 after provision of $12,000,000 for high cost additions to fixed assets. This earning represented one cent out of our average dollar of sales. That one cent was earned in large part by the savings we made. The operating figures of our business prove that statement. They show where the savings came from. New methods of doing things which save time and cost. Modern equipment replacing old, worn equipment. Better ways discovered by Swift research to produce, use and handle Swift products. A small saving here ... another there ... little economies pyramiding into big economies Until, added together, the savings which we made last year in the actual day-by-day operation of the Swift business amounted to a considerable part of our earnings.

Careful planning, good management and efficient operation are "musts" in our business as in yours. "Little things" can often add up to the difference between a profit and a loss.

F. M. Simpson
Agricultural Research Department

"Weigh 'em to Swift!"



The pen gate opens and cattle crowd into the alley, headed for the scales. A cry rings out, "Weigh 'em to Swift!" Another lot of livestock has been sold to Swift & Company. That deal is a miniature of the business relationship between livestock producers and meat packers.

When this lot of steers was "finished," the producer sent them to the stockyards, consigned to a commission firm. In the "yards" livestock buyers came to look and make their competitive bids. Competition is always keen because 26,000 meat packers and other commercial slaughterers in the United States are active in livestock buying. Each buyer knows that unless he bids "the going price" for the animals he wants, some competitor will get them. Also, he knows that if he bids too high his company will take a loss.

Thus competition and the law of supply and demand set the prices all along the line. This load of steers went to Swift & Company because the Swift buyer offered more than other buyers. And the price he paid was based on his estimate of what the meat, hides, glands and other by-products would be worth to Swift & Company.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

MY patience with Georges, fugitive king of Trees, was waning rapidly. He appeared to have no conception of the value of my time, or that of any one's else save his own, and I am afraid my voice was callous as I answered his question.

"You'd better find out quickly," I said, "and I'm afraid you'll have to winnow your confidences. As I warned you before, when the dinner gong rings, we must end this interview."

His eyes opened widely in patent astonishment.

"Do you mean," he said, "that you, Mr. Spencer's daughter, may not set your own time limit on an interview?"

It was almost a second before I could answer him, and when I did, I knew that my voice sounded as if icicles were chipping from it.

"Because I am my father's daughter," I said, "I never presume to question his dicta. He has said he wishes me to leave here at the end of a certain time, I shall do that. Part of my time will be given to the instructions for the house party preparations which must be given to Katie, to Jim, and to the Tigers. May I remind you once more than the time allotted to you is fast vanishing. Please start talking."

But it was a full second before he followed my injunction, and I saw lines etch themselves in his face, while in his eyes, as they met mine, there was more than a hint of suffering — how real, I could not tell—unfortunately, the royal playboy's historianism makes us suspect the reality of whatever emotions he has on display at any given moment.

"I do not know where to begin," he faltered at last, and if he were acting, I told myself, he had missed his vocation. He should be wearing buskins.

"I am so torn between love and duty," he went on, and stopped, evidently waiting for a question or a comment from me.

"You mean," I said, "that you are afraid this secret mission of yours will suffer because of your marriage to Olina?"

"Oh, no," he said, "nothing like that. I cannot go actively out on that misison until your father gives the word that it is safe to do so, and in the interim, I can think of nothing more heavenly than a secret honeymoon with Olina in these beautiful rooms which your father so kindly has offered me."

"Then," I retorted caustically, "will you kindly tell me what you do mean?"

"I am afraid I must go back a little—or rather, quite a long way into the past before I answer that question directly," he said, and I promised myself grimly that when Mr. "K." came back for us, this "true confession" would end right in the middle of a paragraph, if Georges had not finished it sooner.

"You remember, do you not," he said, "that idyllic time out here years ago when Noel and Olina were betrothed, and when Mary did me the honor to promise that she would be my wife and my queen?"

"Perfectly," I said, closing my lips upon the single word. And, indeed, the word, "queen" had brought a vivid remembrance of Georges' eager young face as he explained to us the odd clause in the succession of the hide-bound little monarchy which permitted its kind to take a "commoner" as his wife, and would thus enable him to make American-born Mary Harrison, queen of Trees.

"Our romance ended, as I thought," he went on, and I lifted my ear lobes. What did he mean to tell me?

"But, although I thought when I left here, that I really loved Olina, the better of the two girls," he went on, and once more my palm felt the familiar urge to slap him for the egotistical note in his voice, "it was not long before the old longing for Mary came over me. I kept her photographs in my wallet, and Olina found them there. Of course, she very properly broke our engagement and—I am ashamed now when I think of it—I was much relieved at her action.

"Then, when I last was here, finding Mary married, and determined to do her duty and stick to her temperamental husband, I found, at first, comfort in Olina, and then, happiness. I was rapturously happy when she became engaged to me, and I snatched avidly at your plan for our marriage out here.

"Then, my conscience began to trouble me," he finished astonishingly, "and I find I must choose between my love for Olina, and my duty to Mary."

St. Mary Meets Bremen in Finals Tonight

Irish Seek Marion's First District Cage Crown Against Unbeaten Oilers

By BILL DIEM

Tonight's the big night of the year for the basketball team of Marion St. Mary.

They meet Bremen at 8 p. m. in Otterbein gym in Westerville for the championship of the Central district class B basketball tournament and a trip to the regionals.

If they win tonight, they'll be the first team in Marion ever to win the district title in either class A or B play.

Last year, they came within a game of winning the title, only to be nosed out by Columbus Rosary in an overtime period.

Bremen Is Undefeated

The opponent the Irish will face tonight is more formidable than any they've faced in earning their 21-4 record this year, and probably as tough a team as they'll ever face, for the Bremen Oilers have taken 26 straight wins this season.

The Oilers are the smoothest basketball team St. Mary Coach Gene Fetter has ever scouted. They are marvelous passers, and all five men on the team can shoot straighter than the leather stockinged Hawkeye.

No man on the undefeated Bremne team possesses remarkable height, but all of them measure close to the six foot mark, which gives them an advantage over the St. Mary guards, Bob Stuber and Dan Smith, if not over the other players, center Dick Drake, and forwards John Baldauf and Dick Schuler.

The Oilers employ in the main a tight 2-1-2 zone defense that is tougher to crack than a cocoanut. But they are also adept at the man-for-man defense if the need arises.

Zone Gives Trouble

The Irish have experienced the most trouble in their games this season with teams using the zone defense. They lost to Sunbury in the regular season play when the Pirates bottled them up in a zone.

So well did Bremen look in seasonal play that as early as the Christmas holidays people began to look to the Oilers to take the state championship, and their play in the tournaments has lived up to this advance billing.

But, as no team is invincible, the Irish stand a chance of dumping the powerful Oilers. If all of them can play the inspired ball that each of them has displayed singly in previous games this season, the trip to the regionals is theirs.

Need Inspired Play

If Dick Schuler, who is due for a hot night, plays the offensive game he did against Richwood; if Dick Drake connects as he did against Carey; if Bob Stuber comes through in the clutch as he did against Marysville; if John Baldauf continues his hot tournament pace; if Dan Smith can top his performance against Columbus St. Mary; and if the team as a whole duplicates the feat of pouring in 22 points in one quarter as they did against Mt. Gilead, then mighty Bremen has fallen.

The Irish will take off for Westerville from St. Mary church at 6 tonight. Coach Fetter will take with him 10 men — the starting five and Jim and Bob (Cork) Cusick, Joe Maniaci, Jim Moloney and Bill Merchant.

A host of Marion fans will leave for Westerville a short time later to be on hand to cheer on the Irish when the game starts at 8 p. m.

SALEM TOURNEY SET

SALEM, O., March 12—The 15th annual Salem Invitational basketball tournament for semi-pro teams will be held here from March 29 to April 2, Director J. M. Kelley reported today.

CAN THEY WIN TONIGHT? The basketball team of St. Mary High school faces the undefeated Bremen Oilers at Westerville tonight for the upper bracket championship of the Central district class B cage tournament. The Irish, who have won 21 while losing but four, notched their way to the tourney finals with wins over Sunbury, Pleasant and Columbus St. Mary. Under the guidance of Coach Gene Fetter, the Irish added a share in the Mid-State league basketball title to their league football trophy when they defeated Marysville to tie that team for cage honors. If they win tonight, they'll bring Marion its first district title and will earn a trip to the regional tournament.

Ducats to Golden Gloves Going Fast; 5th Annual Bouts Start Monday Night

By BILL MURPHY

With the opening gong practically ringing in their ears, Marion boxing fans stormed the Markert and Lewis store Wednesday and grabbed off 256 reserved seat tickets for the Golden Gloves show to be staged at the Armory Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

Ticket sales slumped in the second day, when 29 ducats were sold. Total sales reached 285 for the two days, 15 less than for the same period last year, a condition which may be attributed to the fickle weather. In spite of the Babloons' attempts to foul the detail, 185 more tickets were sold on the first day than were sold at the opening last year.

Reserved seat tickets are $1.50 while general admission seats, sold only at the Armory door, are $1.00.

Eight of the 1947 champions return to do battle in the Y's Men's sponsored G.G.'s this year, including Ward Watkins of Delaware, heavyweight, Lawrence Strahm of Carey, featherweight, Harold Carpenter of Marion, bantamweight, Harold Knapp of Marion, flyweight, James Wood of Delaware, middleweight, and Jack Davis, Bob Hunt and Gene Coulson, paperweights. Davis and Hunt are from Marion, and Coulson hails from Mt. Victory. All titleholders named will fight in the same class as last year.

Featherweight Strahm is fighting for the third consecutive year, having compiled an enviable record in his first two tries when he won the bantamweight and feather crowns.

Delaware, presenting the classiest stable of fighters last year, dominated the show by winning all titles from light to heavy. Ward Watkins won the heavyweight crown on the basis of a victory over Russell Bartlett of Ashley in the first night of slugging, when his challenger in the finals, Pat Patterson, failed to show. Wood captured the middleweight on a TKO by handing Charles Farina of Galion a terrific lambasting in the first two rounds, before referee A. J. Wagner stopped the bout. Other Delaware winners thus far have not enter the current fracas.

The A.A.U. sanctioned show will be divided into non-title or novice class (boys under the age of 16) and regular A.A.U. matches. Fast amateurs and ringlings make up a program consisting of 43 paperweights, eight flyweights, five bantamweights, eight featherweights and six lightweights, all are entered in the novice nose bustin' division. Contestants 16 or over number 14 welters, 10 middleweights, 12 lightweights and three featherweights.

Joe Yannitell, former finalists in Chicago, serving his fifth year as chairman of the Golden Glove Tourney, reiterated his announcement to fighters that they must report to the Armory at 6 p. m. To be there sharply at 6 p. m. is absolutely necessary, he said, to prevent a hold up while contestants are weighed-in, examined by the physician, dressed and matched.

OSU Track Champs Try Iron-Man Stunt

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 12 — The Big Nine's indoor track champions from Ohio State will pull an iron-man stunt week-end after next.

The Buckeyes will compete in the Knights of Columbus meet at Cleveland on March 19. The next night they will be at Chicago for the annual relays.

Heading the Ohio State squad will be Lloyd Duff of Lakewood, pole vaulter and hurdler who counted 16 of the Bucks' 43 points in the Eastern conference indoor meet.

Duff wheeled over the 70-yard high hurdles in :08.4 seconds, a new Big Nine indoor mark hailed as a new American indoor record. He also won the Big Nine broad jump, took third in the pole vault and in the 70-yard low hurdles.

TWO Central district basketball championships will be decided tonight—the class A and the other one of the two class B titles . . . Columbus Central meets Grandview in the class A finals at the state fairgrounds coliseum at 8:45 p. m., but as far as Marion fans are concerned, the important game will be played at 8 p. m. in the Otterbein college gymnasium when Marion St. Mary goes against Bremen for a shot at Marion's first district cage title in history . . . The winner of the Irish-Bremen game will be one of the Central district's two representatives to the class B regional tournaments to be held at Athens and Springfield, whichever is nearer for the winning team . . . The other entry in the B regionals will be the winner of the Marysville-Worthington game which is scheduled to be played at Westerville Saturday night at 8 p. m.

CRAWFORD COUNTY'S Whetstone is still in the B running in the Northwestern district . . . They'll meet Salem Township at Bascom tonight in the semi-finals . . . In a second game at Bascom tonight, Marseilles will put a 22-3 record on the line against Bellville, with a 10-10 record . . . A trip to the B regionals is at stake at Celina tonight when Lima St. Rose (24-2) plays Delphos St. John (24-5).

Bellevue and Mansfield Madison clash at Sandusky tonight for a trip to the regionals . . . Bellevue added the high touted Ashland to their list of victims Tuesday . . . They have won 15 and lost six, while Madison, who dropped Mansfield Wednesday, has a 19-2 mark.

HERB MURPHY, the vice president of the Newark baseball club, a farm team of the New York Yankees operating the Ohio-Indiana league, has come up with a good idea to promote interest in baseball among the Newark fans . . . The baseball team and the parent Yankees, in conjunction with the Newark Advocate and a market in town, will send a youngster in the town or in Licking county on an all-expense trip to the Newark Yankees' spring training site at Easton, Md., for a tryout under the eyes of the New York Yankees scouts . . . If the youth shows enough promise, he will be signed to a Yankee contract and sent to one of their farms for training, possibly the Newark farm . . . Selection of the oustanding young player will be made entirely by vote of the fans . . . Of course, the boy will have to be out of high school and over 17 years of age to be eligible to sign a contract.

A FINE BUCYRUS basketball team earned the honor of meeting Findlay, state tournament favorites, in the district finals at Findlay tomorrow night by shading St. Marys, 44-40, in the semi-finals last night . . . The last of the 1947 class finalists in the running this year, Phillipsburg, dropped by the wayside last night as Randolph beat them, 28-24 . . . Columbiana, New Knocksville, and Corning had all fallen earlier.

Semi-Final Action Scheduled In Prospect Cage Tourney Tonight

Special to The Star

PROSPECT, March 12—The Prospect Invitational tournament goes into the semi-finals tonight at the Prospect High school gym.

Starting the crucial action at 7:30 p. m. will be Marseilles Eagle Hi's vs. Roxy Grill of Delaware, and Prospect All Stars vs. Schlairet in the second game.

Marseilles will floor five boys who hit the hoop with remarkable accuracy on all types of shots and conduct themselves on the hardwoods with the skill of college players. And well they might for when they meet the Roxy cagers they will tangle with college talent. Sherry Rowland, O.W.U. pivot artist, and Bill Blair and Reggie Moncur are all college courtsters. Blair and Moncur played on the O.W.U. second team. Marseilles' 25-3 record will be placed in a precarious position against these boys. In a game last week, Rowland scored 26 points in 20 minutes against a good Commercial Steel five of Marion.

The Schlairet-Prospect tussle should be a dilly, too. Both teams carry scoring aces. The three Dillion boys and George Keel enhance the chances of Schlairet while Little All-American Glen Kessler, Stan Kirby and "Grimmy" Smith are featured for Prospect.

Winners will battle in the finals Saturday night and the losers will tangle for third and fourth spots in a preliminary game at 7:30 p. m.

The four teams have each played two games thus far in the tournament, with the exception of Prospect, which drew a bye for the second round.

Roxy is leading scorer with 149 points against 135 for their opponents. Marseilles shows the best defensive record, 142 to 45 points for opponents.

Top individual scorer is Reggie Moncur of the Roxy team with 46 points in two games.

Double Cage Bill Set At Armory Sunday

The Vet League All-Stars will meet the Columbus Globetravelers in the Armory at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the second half of a twin bill which will see the Caledonia Merchants against Commercial Steel in the first game at 1:30.

Tickets to the double bill, which can be purchased at the gate, cost 60 cents for adults and 30 cents for children. Proceeds of the day's play will go to the newly organized City Vet league, which will use the money to purchase trophies and to defray the cost of running their weekly Monday night league play.

The Columbus Globetravelers is an all Negro team featuring a wooden-legged player and a couple of basketball clowns. They have won 61 of their last 71 games.

Officials for the games will be William Wiley and Max Roseberry.

REDS GLOOMY AFTER SUCCESSIVE LOSSES

By The Associated Press

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 12—Cincinnati's battered Redlegs, still reeling from wallopings on successive days, have for an opponent today the only team they have licked during the training season—the lowly Philadelphia Phillies.

Johnny Hetki, Eddie Erautt and Walter Cress were Manager Johnny Neun's overnight choice to face the Phillies, who fell before the Reds, 13-3, earlier this week.

The Rhinelanders, 14-3 losers to the Boston Braves Wednesday, took it on the chin again yesterday when the Detroit Tigers ran wild to win 15-3 at Lakeland.

The Detroiters sent 16 men to bat in the fifth inning and it added up to 12 runs.

One shining light, Herman Wehmeier, emerged from the Cincinnati gloom. Hermie, who came up from Syracuse in the International league, held the Tigers to one hit during the first three innings and his opponent during that time was none other than lefty Hal Newhouser.

The American leaguers combined eight hits, four walks and two Cincinnati errors to count the 12 markers.

Harry Perkowski, who followed Wehmeier to the mound, permitted one Tiger run in the fourth, but the roof fell in at the start of the next round and before Kenny Holcome came to his rescue, nine runners had crossed the plate.

Fans Enter Wild And Wooly Battle Royal

Wrestling fans witnessed, and participated in, a "wild and wooly battle royal at the Armory last night.

Al Alexander was the first to get tossed out of the ring, in the five-man melee, Farmer Jones and Jack Kelley followed, and Len Hughes and Bill Murray remained to settle their dispute in the main event.

The last, a battle which ended in fan participation, and in promoter Les Fishbaugh's words, "several chairs won't be of anymore use."

"It would happen the night of the police banquet, and not a cop around," said he.

Murray won the bout when Hughes was disqualified for foul methods. Farmer Jones won the semi-final go when former boxer, Jack Kelley, was eliminated for using his fists.

Donald Duck floored Mickey Mouse in one minute in the preliminary.

SAYS HITLER LIVES. New story of Adolf Hitler's disappearance is told to the allied military government near Munich by Friederich Mackensen, former German air force captain and grandson of Field Marshal von Mackensen. The pilot, now paralyzed in both legs, says that he flew in a Luftwaffe formation that escorted the Nazi leader from Berlin to Spain, but that his own plane crashed in France.

Marion Man Gets Letter from King

If Tom Fisher, of 145 West Fairground street, mentions "my friend the king" in conversation these days his friends believe him for he not only knows a king but a king know. him, the king in question being King Paul of Greece.

Wednesday Fisher received a registered air mail lette: from King Paul, written by his royal secretary, and enclosed was an autographed photograph of his Hellenic majesty

The registered letter, which cost his majesty the equivalent of $14 - 50 to mail, was sent to thank Fisher for a group of photographs sent him by Fisher The photographs taken in Athens were of the funeral cortege of the king's late brother, King George, and were filmed by Fisher on April 3 and 6, 1947, during a six-week European tour which included a visit to Greece his native land

The letter notified Fisher the king had received the pictures and was highly appreciative of them, and if at some future date Fisher should again be in Greece, the king would be happy to receive him

Fisher said today he was awaiting a return of more normal conditions to Greece before availing himself the chance to enjoy King Paul's hospitality.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

When Sitting Becomes Painful

Sitting, a preferred position for most of us, is so painful as to be almost taboo for people suffering from coccygodynia.

This disorder gets its name from the word "coccyx," which is the medical term for the lower end of the spinal column. Thus, in plain English, coccygodynia simply means pain in the area of the coccyx.

To the patient it means a good deal more It sometimes means a choice between standing up and lying down; it often means sitting—if at all—on rubber cushions or pillows.

Practically all patients with coccygodynia also have some pain in the rectum or lower part of the bowel This pain is usually made worse by a bowel movement sometimes passing downward into the thighs or upwards into the back.

This condition may arise from many different sources Inflammation of the areas within the lower part of the abdomen may bring about spasm of certain muscles and thus produce the pain Diseases of the rectum also will cause muscular spasm, with the resulting symptoms of coccygodynia. Injuries may be responsible, but even in patients who have suffered injuries it is unusual to find anything abnormal in the position of the coccyx itself

It would seem then that spasm of one or more of the muscles which make up the lower part of the girdle area is chiefly responsible for the pain of coccygodynia These muscles can be felt through the rectum and will feel swollen and hard Pressure on the muscles makes the pain worse

As a rule, the condition can be overcome without an operation The most important part of the treatment is massage through the rectum, of the affected muscles Too active massage, however, will cause an increase in muscle tenderness; therefore, it should be done gently and only about three times a week.

If the coccyx actually becomes dislocated, it should be put back in proper position.

The patient should be taught to sit erectly since this is the most comfortable sitting position Daily hot baths will also give relief in some cases. If the patient is suffering from constipation, the use of mineral oil is suggested Automobile rides are to be avoided because the sitting position, in combination with jolting how-

Questions and Answers

A Reader My tongue is coated with white spots in the morning What would you advise?

Answer In some instances, the tongue becomes coated as a result of constipation, while in many cases no cause for it can be discovered

If one is in good physical condition, and feels perfectly well, no attention should be paid to the fact that the tongue is coated

New York Stock Quotations

The Associated Press

YORK, March 12—Selected issues continued on the recovery of today's market while leaders faltered.

Gains reverted to sluggishness after a quiet opening. Fractional irregularity prevailed near the close.

Business of international affairs stressed by Secertary of State Marshall, tended to activate speculative and investment position.

Improvement was recorded for Lowe's, Universal Pictures, Twentieth Century-Fox, Warner Bros., Paramount Pictures, United Aircraft, Lockheed, Republic Steel, Pennsylvania Railroad, Pacific Western Oil, and Eastern Airlines. Mack Trucks pushed up on a stock split proposal.

Intermittent laggards included Chrysler, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Schenley, American Telephone, Du Pont and Southern Pacific.

Local Grain Market

(Producers Livestock Cooperative Association Quotations)

Thursday price after 2 p. m.: Wheat 2.32; No. 3 white oats 1.10.

Range

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 12—Wheat opened with fair-sized gains on the board of trade today following announcement that the government had purchased enough flour to fill April export allocations. The strength of wheat helped feed grains. However, grains well back after the opening with corn and oat dropping below the preceding close. Trading was very active.

Wheat started unchanged to 2⅛ higher, May $2.39-2.36½; corn was ¾-2½ higher, May $2.13-2.13½, and oats were unchanged to ⅞ higher, May $1.10½-¼.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

A lock of Napoleon's hair sold for $46 in Paris this week . . . . There is no current quotation on Vaughn Monroe.

* * *

And somebody paid $92 for one of Marie Antoinette's curls. That was reasonable . . . A single light hair on a dark business suit has been known to cost more than that in alimony.

* * *

That's a strange thing about women . . . A wife will believe that her husband's hair is falling out but never that he got the one on his shoulder that way.

* * *

Men who work in hair mattress factories must either be single or in trouble all the time.

* * *

I knew a fellow who worked in one and when he came home with a hair on his shoulder his wife said "You've got a hair on your shoulder." He said "What of it . . . it's just a horse hair."

* * *

She said "The horse should have taken the bobby pin off it."
